

Reflection week four

The fourth week we only had one scheduled supervision session, guest lecture and three group meetings that we had scheduled ourselves.

- What do I want to learn or understand better?

This week I got to be product owner so I got to learn more about that role and I will also continue with that role next week. I also got to produce a figma prototype design for our website. I like the idea of creating the graphical interface for our website and hope to continue to learn more about that type of work.

- How can I help someone else, or the entire team, to learn something new?

This week I didn't feel like I had that much to contribute towards the team learning since I was working with figma with Simon who has some experience with it much like me. I did however as for any other week contribute to the team effort during meetings with input and also as my role as product owner.

- What is my contribution towards the team's use of Scrum?

As mentioned my role for this week was product owner, which I contributed as. I also helped with organizing the scrum board, as well as team reflection. Me and the other PO sat down and talked about what to prioritize on the scrum board and presented this to the team.

- What is my contribution towards the team's deliveries?

I have together with Simon made a prototype on figma for some of the functionality the product should have but also how the design should look. This as mentioned is just a prototype implying that it's mostly likely going to be changed or improved. I would also say that I've filled my part as PO for this week even though it sometimes feels weird to be the PO.
